

"WE BUILD!"

Last weeks program was another surprise. Instead of the much publicized Home Hospice presentation chaired by Woody, we entertained a group of award winning students from HHS. Earl was chairman of the day and introduced the honorees. Nancy Gibbons of Shiloh 4H was the winner of the coveted Kiwanis Junior Citizen of The Year plaque. Nancy is a 4H All Star, raises sheep and rabbits, plays in the band and has been active in 4H for nine years. Runners up for the award were also introduced. They were Yvonne Vanoni & Diana Westfall of Warm Springs 4H club, Randy Sauder Westside 4H, and Sharon Tellyer and Steve Citti of Healdsburg FFA. Congratulations to all. Sherry Warburton, Iola Feldcher, and Suzy Mitchell were also introduced. These talented girls are responsible for the mural on the wall at the end of Fitch Street. They designed and painted it and are to be congratulated for their efforts in making Healdsburg a more attractive place in which to live.

The program concluded with Ralph Kauer telling of his background and past history. Ralph is a native San Franciscian and an educator of note having taught and administered schools in Shasta and San Francisco. Prior to retirement he was S.F. Assistant superintendent of schools in charge of junior and senior high schools.

Walt reported that the 17 bike riders in the fair parade performed in outstanding style and received the acclaim of the thousands of spectators watching the parade.

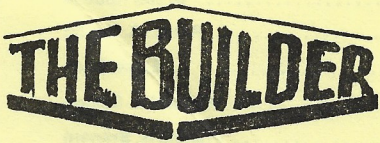

Tom reported on the relay race won by Healdsburg Junior High. Earl and Art helped stage the outstanding event.

Walt reported that the fish booth was successful in producing a profit of $588.70. This was increased to $600.70 when Chuck, Tom and Craig bought a bowl of breeding gold fish at the auction. These with the four mated pairs awarded in the raffle will serve as the foundation stock of the fish breeding program the club has started. If all goes as planned we will have enough fish by next year to stock the booth and will not have to go to the outside market for our supply.

Ernie Biasotti introduced Steve Humphry of Mill Street Plywood.

If you haven't paid your $10 for your golf tickets, please do so to Bud. He would like to complete this project.

This weeks program is supposed to be chaired by Paul Dix and feature an official of Sonoma County but as we have seen in past weeks we may be surprised anyway. Come and see for yourself.

KIWANIS BULLETIN

Last weeks program chairman Paul Dix brought us Sheriff Roger McDermott who told of some of the new programs he has initiated and his plans to increase the efficiency of the Department. He is placing a great deal of emphasis on crime prevention. He also pointed up the need for more law enforcement with the growth in population. Wayne Dunham, investigator for the Sonoma County Coroners Office brought us some sobering statistics from his department. In 1978 the county had 1100 coroner cases, 728 of which were accepted. ## KIWANIS BULLETIN

June 19, 1979

Terry Stringfellow, program chairman, will be sitting at the head table Tuesday noon with a member of the fairer sex who will be representing the Women's League of Voters. Come, look and listen-it will be an interesting subject treated in a fair and lucid manner as you would expect from the Women's League of Voters.

Guests last week, introduced by Earl Osborn, were Carla DalColleta and Paul Deas, just graduated High School Seniors. Carla received the plaque this year for Kiwanis Citizenship and Paul one of the Kiwanis Scholarships. Each of them bagged other significant awards and we wish each of them-Good Luck! President Bruno reported on last weeks Board Meeting. The baseball scoreboard was selected for our number one project, costing $2,700. Additional seats at a cost of $3,500 was our second project. The July 24 meeting will be held at Lytton-not the Federated Church. And finally, four additional member-applications were approved.

Bill Kassin announced details of the Willits Fly-In, departing from the Federated Church at 10am on Tuesday June 26.

Woodley Frampton, Program Chairman, introduced Virginia Newall, Patient Care Coordinator, for Home Hospice, Sonoma County. Several years ago this Registered Nurse who has had 18 years of nursing, (medical, private, hospital, psychiatric, orthopedic and public health) began to take a special interest in human suffering among patients with terminal illness. Home Hospice services are provided by trained volunteers to family members and friends who care for terminally ill patients in their home. Additionally, therapy is provided the terminally ill for their comfort and understanding. Hospice is a concept of caring by a group of individuals who wish to assist in the improvement of the quality of life of the person with a terminal illness. It is a non-profit organization with no charge for service. The work is funded by contributions, foundation and memorials. Further information is available by calling 542-5045. Volunteers are needed, will be trained and assigned work on the Home Hospice Team.

A vague and nebulous plan was developing between Chuck Reichel and Ed Deas to put on the PAY-OFF Dinner of steak and red wine to the winning team of Robert Young's new member Recruiting Team.

Woodley wanted the membership to know the pleasant and powerful impact made by a member explaining to the program chairman and speaker of the need to leave the meetings before one thirty. It was Ben Franklin who articulated the three things needed by an old man: an old women, money, and an old dog.

Gary Rosenberg will return as your editor next week.
