

The Builder

Published Weekly by the Kiwanis Club of Healdsburg, California

November 6, '51

Bill Sanderson, Chairman, has booked the Ford Motor Company in a film portraying interesting things connected with the Corporation.

Forests of India; lumbering; jungles; animals & reptiles, harmless and otherwise - all made for an unusually live subject, enlightening us with some conditions elsewhere besides Healdsburg. To Ray Wainscott: Nice entertainment, Raymond.

Speaking of programs, isn't it noteworthy how our chairmen do land so many top notch speakers for our interest and education? Again we repeat Kiwanis is a veritable university of learning. Our boys seem to have uncanny connections with outside talent. How come ?

Before we forget it, for this Tuesday night Cotton-top Williams, profeting by The Builder's advertising facilities, invites to his home all the directors, those will-be makecuppers, together with the multitude, to participate on what is on the agenda.

We have no way of telling who, if any, reads the weekly bulletin. Something of a squawk, at least, might solve the mystery.

Coming Events: November 11th, Armistice Day observance, Cloverdale.
 Thanksgiving Day - turkey - November 22nd.
 Kiwaniis School of Education, Healdsburg. Soon.
 Dec. 7th, Smoker, benefit of Saturday Eve. Concerts in '52.
 Merry Christmas, December 25th.

For all those years, (few exceptions) our club has paid observance to the several holidays. Thanksgiving is one of the most significant. May not some attention be given to this festival this time ? Even a five minute discourse will suffice, if some other program

The Builder

Published Weekly by the Kiwanis Club of Healdsburg, California

November 6, '51

Bill Sanderson, Chairman, has booked the Ford Motor Company in a film portraying interesting things connected with the Corporation.

Forests of India; lumbering; jungles; animals & reptiles, harmless and otherwise - all made for an unusually live subject, enlightening us with some conditions elsewhere besides Healdsburg. To Ray Wainscott: Nice entertainment, Raymond.

Speaking of programs, isn't it noteworthy how our chairmen do land so many top notch speakers for our interest and education? Again we repeat Kiwanis is a veritable university of learning. Our boys seem to have uncanny connections with outside talent. How come ?

Before we forget it, for this Tuesday night Cotton-top Williams, profeting by The Builder's advertising facilities, invites to his home all the directors, those will-be makecuppers, together with the multitude, to participate on what is on the agenda.

We have no way of telling who, if any, reads the weekly bulletin. Something of a squawk, at least, might solve the mystery.

Coming Events: November 11th, Armistice Day observance, Cloverdale.
 Thanksgiving Day - turkey - November 22nd.
 Kiwaniis School of Education, Healdsburg, Soon.
 Dec. 7th, Smoker, benefit of Saturday Eve. Concerts in '52.
 Merry Christmas, December 25th.

For all those years, (few exceptions) our club has paid observance to the several holidays. Thanksgiving is one of the most significant. May not some attention be given to this festival this time ? Even a five minute discourse will suffice, if some other program

The Builder

November 13, 1951 Published Weekly by the Kiwanis Club of Healdsburg, California

Who's Who and What's What for this day is a minus quantity. If for no other reason come to get the mystery solved. Come to hear some silence and see some noise

Happy to be able to state that, now that we have our nonpareil leader Al Barbieri with us again and with his boys the youthful Club is a going concern. Al should have a young energetic Kiwanian to assist him. We, in the past, have been proud of Boys Club.

Echoes from the recent directors' meeting: Whenever we need to "replenish" our membership we have a desirable stalwart in line. So announced the committee chairman.

Sunday, December 2nd, date for annual training of officers-elect for Division Eight in Healdsburg. Lt. Governor Walt has it in hand.

December 18th, date of our annual get-together at Lytton Home. This meeting, in the evening, will constitute the regular weekly meeting - Ladies Night.

Meetings during the holiday season will be on the next day following Christmas and similar day after New Year. These meets will probably be held elsewhere than Legion Hall.

Mark West Springs, or Bust ! This Wednesday evening, there at 7. Twenty or more of the best of us are due for this Santa Rosa - Healdsburg combination to eat, drink and be merry. Fine gesture. This is bound to be one of the best of the kind. Signup and dig down - only two bucks, please. This November 14th.

Nice to contemplate: A child in need of glasses, and Kiwanis puts it over. And it is such that justifies our existence. WE BUILD.

What has become of Healdsburg's vaunted Hundred Per Cent ? Gov. Walt says we'll have it in '52, or we'll know the reason why.

The Builder

Published Weekly by the Kiwanis Club of Healdsburg, California

Program for ~~this~~ November 20, '51

Chairman, Bob Clark. Speaker, Jack Thomas. Subject, Thanksgiving.

November 14th. A score of our men got away to a good start, we are told, to join, with accelerated appetites 30 Santa Rosans at Mark West Springs for one of those inter-club meets. We should hear what was said and done - not expecting all details.

It is well that a quintette of our "laymen" paid their respects to different "heads of departments" - pointing how they were mostly all wet in their functionings, and how to reform, officially.

For instance: According to Ray Wainscott a deadly parallel between the efficiency, attitude and loving demeanor of those pretty girls on the north side of our local bank, as against what you encounter on the men's side - a glassy stare. Assuming those charming girls may stay put said institution may continue to be a going concern.

Rev. Jack Thomas endeavored to jack up those real estate members without pulling any punches. And it was whispered around that our little minister missed his calling. "Mark most of the listings SOLD and the saps will rush in for the rest while the rushing is good." would be the preacher's practice. But isn't it a far cry between the clergy and that of the agent who sometimes salts a mine?

Whereupon Russ turned tables on the ministry in harsh Presbyterian fashion. As his forebears came from the Orangemen's North of Ireland, tho' having nothing in common with the Pope, yet, they practiced piety with considerable punch. "Steve" was rather fair, yet, he'd do things different from the preachings of our man of God.

That Doctor Don could tell our City Engineer how to do business - well, he made pretty good at that. In the main, we think the conquerer of hemorrhoids was somewhat off his base.

And what a bitter invective did Gordon Jones dhoot against our local school system, including Prince Bud Christensen. But everything advocated he admitted would not work out in practice. Preponderous! All in all, what a juicy program! And what humorists we have here!