GEYSERVILLE — Project Eyeglasses was adopted by the Geyserville Kiwanis Club, a project to collect old eyeglasses for distribution in the Philippines, so that a clinic in Manila can be of use as soon as possible.

The project was sponsored by the International Relations Committee, Kiwanis International, which reports that almost enough of the unmounted lenses have come in.

What is needed now are the complete glasses or empty frames. Anyone in the Geyserville area who has old eyeglasses and would like to see further use made of them may give them to the Geyserville Kiwanis Club.

Committee chairmen for the Geyserville Kiwanians have been announced: Everett Lampson, public and business affairs; William Bagnani, agriculture and conservation; Richard Mansfield, scholarship and vocational guidance.

David Lampson is chairman of the support of churches committee; Richard Dilworth, youth work, and Randle Bennett, public relations and the Kiwanis Bulletin.

Mr. Lampson had Obed Bosworth as guest speaker for a recent Kiwanis meeting. Mr. Bosworth, whose father was a pioneer business man here, and who now has the business established by his father, related the history of Geyserville.

Mr. Bosworth told various aspects of the history of the town since 1851. Kiwanians were interested that the original center of town was near the Geyserville Christian Church.

He related many interesting features of this community over the past 115 years.

Kiwanis Club Installs New Officers

The 1966 Officers of the Kiwanis Club of Healdsburg were installed in impressive ceremonies at Yvonne's Restaurant last Tuesday.

Install-officer was Lt. Governor, Division 32, District of California-Nevada-Hawaii, Kiwanis International, Leo Meskis of Fort Bragg.

He was accompanied by his wife Esther, the charming "First Lady" of Division 32.

This was the traditional Ladies Nite for the Healdsburg Club and better than 100 attended this first year installation marking the start of the second half century of the founding of Kiwanis International.

The Healdsburg Kiwanis Club, 60 members strong, is the oldest club in Division 32 and will be celebrating its 43rd Charter Anniversary in November, 1966.
