With the approach of Easter, today's program will be presented through the efforts of the Support of Churches committee and the Music committee. Van Cleave will be program chairman and will present some fine local musical talent to furnish background for the Easter message.

It was interesting to learn of the outstanding job done by the volunteers for a lighted recreation park. It will be another dark age if we ever have a minus quotient of volunteers such as gave us Healdsburg's lighted recreation park. Thanks, Bob, and Clarence, for the informative program.

We are happy to report that Sid Grove is taking it easy at home after his harrowing experience last Thursday.

Lt. Gov. Walter Eggen was an official guest at the Board of Directors meeting Tuesday.

NOW IN THE PROCESSING MILL: A Tuesday night program at the Rio Linda Academy - a ladies night. ::::: A float in the FFA Fair parade. ::::: It may be only a rumor but Zeke Langhart seems to be hiding the plans for an attendance contest in Fin's old sombrero.

Today's program has been arranged by Major Phillips who will present Eugene Giovannoni. He will speak on subdivisions in Healdsburg's fast-moving real estate market.

Our Easter observance was superbly done, thanks to James McLain, vicar of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and the music of Karen Dobson and Susan Fletcher.

We are happy to learn that Jim Steele escaped without broken bones in his auto mishap. Our best wishes for a speedy return to work.

Today is school trustee and tax election day. The voters in the Healdsburg elementary school district are voting on a proposal which would lift the tax ceiling from $1.25 rate to $1.75. There are some familiar names on both the high school and elementary slate of candidates. VOTE!
