HISTORY OF KIWANIS COMMUNITY PROJECTS..	15-27

How the Healdsburg Kiwanis Club Started

In the early part of June 1923, two men came to Healdsburg with the intention of trying to start a Kiwanis Club in this city. Nathan Combs, District Attorney in Napa County and a member of the Napa Kiwanis Club, and Frank Kean, the State Organizer for Kiwanis were the two men who came to tell the story of Kiwanis.

They met with Joe Miller, George Imrie, Dr. Julian Wright and Fred Young in the Fred Young Mortuary. Napa had formed a club in 1922 and was anxious to sponsor other clubs in the North Bay area.

At a later meeting on June 25th, at the American Legion Club house there were fifteen members of the Napa Kiwanis Club ~~present~~ ^{PRESENT} and the story of Kiwanis was told to a larger group of Healdsburg business and professional men.

On June 29th 1923, a meeting was held and the following permanent officers elected: Joseph Miller, President, George Imrie, Vice President; Charles Comstock, Secretary; Mike Cummings, District Trustee; George Hayes, Treasurer.

The Healdsburg Kiwanis Club was chartered on November 3rd, 1923 with sixty members.

The meetings were held in the Plaza Hotel dining room during the first year of it's existence. The meetings were moved to the American Legion Hall at the end of 1924.

The ladies of the American Legion Auxilliary began serving lunches for the Kiwanis meetings at that time and have continued to do so for the past 55 years.

Healdsburg Boy's Club and Kiwanis

The Healdsburg Boy's Club was started by Kiwanian Al Barbieri in 1946. It has grown from a handfull of boys meeting once a week in a room in back of the old American Legion Hall to it's present membership of several hundred; meeting in a building owned by the Boy's Club. The Boys Club is now open six days a week with a full time direction.

Al Barbieri started his Boys Club, first known as the Healdsburg Boxing Club, with no help from others, or no sponsorship from any organization. He soon had help from Joe Howard, Carl Zenganté and Stanley Zuchelli.

At first the activity was just boxing but soon was expanded to other sports activities. The group grew too large and finally was divided into two groups, one meeting at the Jr. High School and the other at the elementary school gym.

In 1946 the Kiwanis Club took over the financing of the athletic equipment and boxing club shirts worn by the members.

The Kiwanis Club paid $100 a month, to Ken Hoernlein, Ed Matteoli, and LeRoy Danhausen to assist Al Barbieri in supervising the activities at the elementary and Jr. high schools.

In 1958 Al Barbieri secured the old fire house in back of the American Legion Hall and had it moved to the present Boys Club property. The cost of the moving was financed by the Kiwanis.

The Boy's Club was incorporated and a Boy's Club Board of Directors formed.

Soon a gymnasium was added to the Boy's Club building and a supervisor hired. Leland Stanford was the first supervisor of the Boy's Club.

Up until recent years, 1970's, the Boy's Club was financed by local organizations. Kiwanis has contributed thousands of dollars for this program. Other groups like the Knights of Columbus also played a part in financing the program. Many years the profit from the Kiwanis Christmas Tree project and the Pancake Breakfasts were turned over to the Boy's Club.

In recent years the Boy's Club received most of their finances from "The United Way."

Healdsburg Celebrates Three Years of Perfect Attendance

Three years of perfect attendance were celebrated at a dinner and dance held at Taymon Park, on May 2, 1947. The event served two purposes; honored the ladies as well as celebrating our attendance record.

Governor Norm Abbott and wife Marian came up from southern California and added to the success of the affair.

The dinner was prepared by Clem Auradau, Claude Farris, and Bill Rich, -Edd Rountree, Ed Neilsen, and Bill Welking were in charge of all arrangements for the affair.

Dancing went on until 2:30 A.M. followed by ham and eggs at Walt Wrights home in Alexander Valley.

Boy Scouts and Kiwanis

One of the first Kiwanis projects in 1924 was to sponsor a Boys Scout Troop. Dr. ~~Ed~~^{Fred} J. Kinley, the grandfather of Healdsburg Boy Scouts since its' inception in 1916, spearheaded this fine youth activity. Dr. Kinley was an active club member and was the first scout master of troop number 21, which has its first charter granted on September 5, 1930. Troop number 21 has been registered continuously for the past 50 years, of which the Kiwanis Club's 56 years of service, Scouting has been one of the clubs major activities. It has furnished man power for troop leadership and committee work, sponsored fund raising drives, contributed funds to send local scouts to summer camps and National Jamborees. Besides Dr. Kinley, club members who have been in Troop number 21 leadership are: Harold Rosenberg, Ira Rosenberg Sr., S. H. Cooley, E. R. Morehouse, Cecil Judah, Waldo Iversen, B. K. Van-Cleave, Fred Haley, Dr. L. R. Day and Neil Iversen.

During the 1940's Scouting was at its height in Healdsburg, these being seven registered units within our community. There were four scout troops, two cub packs, and one Explorer Scout Troop.

In 1930 the Rosenberg family donated a 10 acre parcel of land on Mill Creek to the Boy Scouts for overnight and weekend camping.

Healdsburg Key Club

The Healdsburg High School Key Club was organized in 1948. Byron Gibbs was Lieut. Gov. of Division Eight and had a lot to do with the creation of this school service club. Charter night was held in February, 1949. Arthur McCaffrey was the first faculty advisor, followed by Norman Schwietert in 1950. Schwietert was followed by Bob Fletcher and then Bill Stiles was faculty advisor until Gordon Langford took over in 1977.

The first major project for the Key Club was in 1949 when they joined the Kiwanis Club in putting on a Pancake Breakfast. Since projects include car ^{washes} ~~washes~~, selling fertilizer, running a queen contest for the Redwood Empire Basketball Tournament, washing dishes for banquets, selling their labor for a day. Numerous service projects have been carried on at school and financed by the Key Club.

Russell B. Stevens-District Governor in 1944

The late Russell B. Stevens joined the Healdsburg Kiwanis Club in January, 1929. His father, A. F. Stevens, has been a charter member in the club when it started in 1923.

Russ became involved in Kiwanis activities from the very start and continued to be a truly dedicated Kiwanian for the next 35 years.

In 1934 he was elected President of the Healdsburg Club. In 1941 he was elected Lieut. Governor from Division Eight. He was the third Lieut. Governor to serve from the Healdsburg Club. In 1942 he was Chairman of the District Committee on Resolutions.

In 1944 Russ became the first Governor to be elected from Division Eight for the California-Nevada-Hawaii District.

Russ served on numerous committees on a district and international level. He was chairman of the International Committee on Business Standards in 1946; Chairman of the District Committee on Past District Governors in 1947 and 1950; Chairman of the District Committee on Finance in 1952-53-54-55; member of the International Committee on Resolutions in 1953.

Many Kiwanis Projects = Lytton Home

One of the most worthwhile youth groups that the Kiwanis Club ever has the pleasure of working with, and assisting in various projects, was the Salvation Army Home for Boys and Girls at Lytton.

As early as 1904 the Salvation Army has acquired 640 acres of land at Lytton. Plans were soon made to start building facilities to house and care ^{for} children, children in need of a good foster home.

A large building was built that was to include dormitories for the girls, offices and housing for the staff, a large dining room and meeting place, a library, and spacious lobby. The boys were housed in cottages. Later a gymnasium was built as well as a swimming pool and tennis courts.

The William Booth Elementary School was built on the grounds to care for the education of the younger children. The high school students attended the Healdsburg High School.

Most of the food consumed at Lytton ^{Home} was produced there on the farm. Dairy cattle, beef, hogs, poultry were all raised. A large vegetable garden was maintained. Each boy and girl has some job to do in running this large ranch home. Some of the older boys were trained to work in the print shop and barber shop.

One of the first projects of the Kiwanis Club, after it was organized in 1923, was to finance a trip to Sacramento for the outstanding Lytton Home Band which won competing in a state contest. The same year Kiwanis started a Boy Scout Troop number 24 at Lytton and supplied the Scout master.

During the next 30 years the Healdsburg Kiwanis Club carried on many projects at Lytton. For 30 years Kiwanis put on a dinner and program for the children at Lytton, at Christmas time. Money was always donated for some project needed for the children. A registered bull was given to the dairy project. Calves were purchased for the children in 4-H work. A 4-H fair was sponsored by Kiwanis and trophies donated. A large project involving several thousand dollars was carried out when a Kiwanian donated lumber and materials to build a large craft shop. Kiwanis purchased the tools and equipment to furnish the shop.

Year after year Kiwanis purchased athletic equipment for use at Lytton. A drum and bugle Corps was started and Kiwanis purchased the instruments.
