The President’s Message:
The Last Presidential Message
By Hunt Conrad

Quack ... Quack... This is the sound of your lame duck president issuing his last presidential message. I can truthfully say this last year has gone by fairly quickly and easily and has been a great pleasure to serve. It seems like only yesterday when I was greeted by you, the members, all wearing crazy fishing getups. We have had a lot of fun in the interim and there is still more to be had.

I know everyone is looking forward to the Brandt’s Beach BBQ on September 8th. This event is always a hit and sells out regularly every year. Chairman Bugarske has let me know that there are only ten tickets left so if you have been out of town or know someone else that would like to go, please contact Dick. I believe he is also accepting raffle items so if you have something that you think you would like to donate just give him a call.

Right on the heels of the BBQ is the Golf Tournament being held at the Windsor Golf Course on Wednesday, September 12th. This year we are going to have Patti Roberts and crew cooking up your BBQ lunch at the 14th hole. Libations will be served as well I am sure. There will be all of the usual contests such as long drive, putting and bull’s eye hole. And then dinner will be outside weather permitting. Charlie’s Grill always puts on such a great spread. Sign up early for a $15 discount. If you would like to be a hole sponsor or know of someone that would like to contribute to the club in this way please get a hold of Roger Dormire. If you would like to work the event please come up to me after a meeting and let me know that you can help do some of the fun organizing that this event requires. Past champion Jerry Strong is looking for a foursome to carry so if you are a team in need of a ringer, give Jerry a call.

I hope to see you at both of these signature Healdsburg Kiwanis events.

professionals advise memorial scholarship board members they should adopt an investment policy

(in an e-mail received august 29 dan maraviglia, acting secretary of the healdsburg kiwanis memorial scholarship fund, stated: in an effort to keep the club members better informed on the workings of the memorial scholarship fund, i'm attaching a copy of the minutes from our meeting of august 28, 2012. the board of the fund is currently working through its annual review of investments, which this year we are undertaking in connection with making a determination on how best to invest the dewitt family grant which was recently received. at our meeting yesterday, we had presentations from three club members who also happen to be financial services professionals: loretta strong, roger dormire and david jones. the scholarship fund would like to thank them in the newsletter for the time and effort that they took to present various options, and for offering their services to the club pro-bono.—editor).

the only issue on the agenda for the special meeting were presentations by three financial professionals concerning their advice to the board concerning best practices for investing on behalf of the memorial scholarship board.

the first presentation was by roger dormire with lpl financial. he currently manages a significant portion of the board's investments, approximately $146,000. roger spoke from a perspective that favors an investment policy which is almost entirely 100% stocks. the current mutual fund which the board is partially invested in is entirely stock focused. roger was able to grandfather us into capital private client services-us equity fund endowment. to get in now one would need three million dollars to invest. this is a very conservative blue chip stock fund made up of large us companies. it is managed by 6 managers with a minimum of 17 years experience.

the average return on this since we started investing with them in 2006 has been 4.25%. 2012 year to date return has been 9.19%, three years average return is 7.26% and lifetime average is 10.32%. roger's recommendation is that we continue with this fund and add to it with cash infusion on a dollar cost average basis.

the second presentation was by loretta strong of raymond james financial. loretta spoke from a perspective which emphasized bond investments and income. in her opinion, a portfolio should be broad diversified, but have at least a 60-40 ratio of bonds to stocks. she showed us several hypothetical situations with mutual funds that have a bond and income emphasis within the american funds family. she made the analogy that the scholarship fund should be invested from the perspective of a 72 year old, with a fervent protection of corpus but the ability to have income to distribute, in our case for scholarships. although she could not offer any guarantees, she was confident that the fund could earn between 6-7% per year return, on average, without risk (depending on the choice of mutual funds). loretta encouraged the board to adopt an investment policy, and to share that policy with the club.

the third presentation was from david jones of edward jones investments, whose presentation also hit on the idea of the board adopting an investment policy statement. david spoke from a perspective also advancing broad diversification, but with a stock emphasis, advocating with a portfolio with a 60-40 stock to bond ratio. david indicated that in his opinion there is a bubble in the bond market that is likely to burst in the next several years, and he has concerns about a bond focused approach. david presented several hypotheticals for the board to consider, including one custom model approach which would carry a 1% fee, not to david but to his company. david also acknowledged that the us equity fund that the club currently has invested through roger, presents an excellent opportunity which is not available to most non-profits, top-flight management for no exit fees, and minimal management fees taken by the company.

the collective wisdom of the three professionals is that the board should adopt an investment policy, and make plans to execute it. also, collectively all three offered their services pro-bono, which the board was incredibly appreciative of, and thankful for.

there was also disagreements between the various advisors. loretta and david disagreed concerning the relative safety of bond investments over the long term. there was some disagreement about the fees charged by mutual fund companies to manage money, and whether these could be waived. there was a strong objection voiced by loretta to paying a 1% management fee to edward jones. if the board decided to go in that direction. the next meeting is set for september 4 at 4:30 p.m.—by dan maraviglia, secretary & acting chair
